

Too Much To Do, Too Little Time

Day 1

Morning: Start your day with a fresh-squeezed orange juice and blue corn pancakes at Café Naranja. Head out early for a hike on the Williams Lake Trail, leading to a high-alpine lake at the base of Wheeler Peak (New Mexico's highest).

Afternoon: After returning from the hike, hop on the scenic chairlift to the base of Kachina Peak where you can either descend the ski slopes, alongside waterfalls and wildflowers, on foot or via chairlift. Either way, hit The Bavarian's patio for authentic German cuisine & beer at the base.

Evening: If you're staying at The Blake, Edelweiss Lodge & Spa, Alpine Village Suites, or Rio Hondo Condos, sit back and relax after dinner at your lodge's outdoor hot tub under the stars.

Day 2

Morning: Grab a coffee and bagel at Black Diamond Espresso and take a leisurely drive downhill to browse the Millicent Rogers Museum.

Afternoon: Head into the historic town of Taos to browse galleries, the diverse John Dunn Shops, the Harwood Museum of Art or the Taos Pueblo, a UNESCO World Heritage site, where multi-story adobe buildings have been continuously inhabited for more than 1,000 years.

Evening: Hit happy hour at The Lounge and then dinner across the street at Doc Martin's before heading back to Taos Ski Valley.

Day 3

Morning: Wake up early for a pre-scheduled hot air balloon ride with Rio Grande Balloons for the best view of the mesas of the Taos Plateau and encircling mountain ranges.

Afternoon: Grab a slice for lunch at award-winning Pizaños and then head south to meet up for a river rafting excursion with a local rafting company on the Rio Grande.

Evening: Relax and dry off at the Sagebrush Grill & Cantina with some of their famous margaritas and nachos. Live music almost nightly.
